

Open Access and Copyright Terms

Present-day scientific publishing operates with various legal and financial models. JCOM América Latina is an open access journal fully funded and published by Sissa Medialab s.r.l. Contributions are distributed under the creative commons license CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>).

Copyright is retained by the authors by default.

Notwithstanding the aforementioned and in any case the submission of a contribution to JCOM América Latina implies that:

- the work described has not been published before (except in form of non-peer-reviewed material such as “preprints”, theses, lectures, reports, etc. publicly posted on institutional or community repositories such as university repositories, and not subject to any copyright protection); that it is not under consideration for publication, and will not be published, in any other refereed publication; that its publication has been approved by all co-authors, if any, as well as — tacitly or explicitly — by the responsible authorities at the institution where the work was carried out.
- the author warrants that his/her contribution is original and that he/she has full power to make this grant. The author, by accepting the terms and conditions, signs for and accepts responsibility for releasing this material on behalf of any and all co-authors.
- the author agrees that Sissa Medialab s.r.l. register the contribution’s DOI, disseminate the relevant data and manage the contribution’s web page (response page).